Dear Dr. Köglmeier,

Thank you for sharing this video.

However I don't feel comfortable with the dissemination of my oral talk. That's why I don't want my video to be broadcasted on Internet.

Please apologize for my point of view on media use.

To compensate for this, I propose to disseminate the slides of my talk. The pdf file is attached here.

And as soon as my manuscript is ready, I will send you.

Sincerely yours,

Thierry Lacombe.

Dear authors and presenters at the XIII International Symposium on Grapevine Breeding and Genetics, as you know, videos of the talks held during the symposium were recorded. They are now available for download for your personal use, please click the link provided below. You will be directed to the cloud server of the JKI, which looks as follows:

Please enter the password (WAXRsxxx2) into the white field in the middle. Your video will then be shown and is available for download. The deadline for download ends December 18 2022.

The link can be found here:

<https://nextcloud.julius-kuehn.de/index.php/s/BHH2FcJgLTis9DL>

If you agree, we will also upload your video to the Book of Abstracts (<https://doi.org/10.5073/20220612-152952>). In this case, we request you to take notice of the attachment "Information on the protection of data privacy" and to fill in the "Declaration of Consent". This mail is addressed to the correspondence author of the original abstract you submitted upon registration for the symposium and to the best of our knowledge to the presenter of the talk. If necessary, we request you to ask your co-authors or presenter not addressed in this mail for consent for publication of the video, too. Please sign the declaration by hand, scan it and send it back by replying to this E-mail or send it by regular mail to: Julius Kühn-Institut, Dr. Werner Köglmeier, Geilweilerhof, 76833 Siebeldingen, Germany. We request you to give your answer by the second week of January 2023. The video will then be uploaded to the Book of Abstracts. Please understand that we cannot upload content without your written consent.

Furthermore, we want to remind you of your contribution to the Proceedings of the Symposium, which will be published as Special Issue of Vitis in 2023. The original deadline was October 31. In case you have already submitted a manuscript, please disregard this message. The deadline is extended now to March 2023. For submitting your contribution to the Proceedings, please do NOT use the online submission system of the journal homepage, but please submit your manuscript as attachment by replying to this E-mail.
